Millions Plan Long Holiday On Highways

Safety Council Says 350 To Die In Traffic Mishaps On Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—Millions of motorists gassed up their cars today for the first long weekend of 1958.

By tradition Memorial Day marks the opening of the summer vacation and touring season. Rates at motels and resorts go up. Gift and souvenir shop operators take down the shutters and move in stock left over from their winter resort branches.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday the highways will be glutted with cars towing trailers laden with cottage furnishings, watercraft and camping equipment.

They also will be packed with motorists in a big urban-rural switch. Country folk drive to the city to see big league baseball or horse races. City folk trade places by touring the blacktops to admire fruit tree blossoms and possibly see a horse that has not been retired by a tractor.

Early starters in the big drive will take off when schools, offices and factories close this afternoon. The National Safety Council reckons the holiday driving will start in force at 6 p. m. local time and continue until midnight Sunday.

During this period, the council estimates, 350 persons will be killed in the heavy traffic. Such a toll would be about 50 more than on an ordinary Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

WU Walkout Threat Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations trying for a new Western Union wage contract were far apart today as a possible nationwide strike appeared close.

Such a strike, at midnight Saturday, would affect all Western Union Telegraph Co. operations except those in the New York area. There, Western Union workers are represented by a different union.

E. L. Hageman, negotiating chairman for the Western Union Telegraphers Union, said the union had cut its demands from an 18 per cent hourly raise to 16 cents. The roughly 30,000 workers involved now average $1.81 an hour, except messengers. He said the CTU is sticking to its proposal for pension improvements and job classification changes.

Consistory To Fill Ranks Of Church Cardinals Seen

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The named 32 cardinals, the largest number ever elevated at once, has renewed speculation that Pope Sixtus XII soon may call a consistory to bolster the diminished ranks of the College of Cardinals.

There has been no official word on a consistory, the gathering of cardinals which seconds the Pope's nominations to their ranks. There will be no official word until the date for the meeting is announced, together with the names of the prelates who will be elevated to the princedom of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pius XII has held only two consistories during his 19 years on the papal throne. In 1946 he

Man, 96, Will Have $75,000 In Insurance

CHICAGO (AP)—John DeWolf, who at 96 will collect $75,000 life insurance because he tripped up the mortality tables, says he'll soon go to Paris to see some of his lady friends.

"Of course, I'm afraid I'm only joking about the girls," he told a reporter as he celebrated his birthday Wednesday. "They're not around any more."

"But I'll be off to Europe next year," said the sprightly old banker and adventurer. DeWolf beat odds of 100-000 to 3, said the insurance statisticians.

Community TV Antenna Systems Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee has heard testimony that the growth of "community antenna systems" threatens the existence of local, small market television broadcasters.

TV operators from several states told the committee yesterday they face unfair, unregulated competition from community antennas that unless curbed, could put them out of business.

Community antenna systems like this: the operator erects on the highest ground possible a receiving antenna capable of picking up TV broadcast signals. The signals then are picked up and amplified and then retransmitted by coaxial cable to subscribers' homes. The subscriber pays an installation fee plus a monthly charge.

Recently, some community antenna operators have turned to microwave relay facilities to feed programs into their systems from stations hundreds of miles away. Among TV operators on hand to urge prompt action to curb the competition of community antenna systems was Fred Weber, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Nation Offers Fullest Honor To Unknowns

Two Nameless War Heroes Lie In State In Quiet Capitol Hall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two nameless dead of two wars lay in state today in a great and quiet hall of the Capitol, while a nation offering its respects hastened also to provide defenses against another conflict.

This day, like Wednesday, more people would come to the rotunda to file past the two bronze caskets.

The mountain of floral tributes from a multitude of organizations and individuals would climb higher.

Same As First Hero

The nation was paying tribute to the unknown fighting men of World War II and Korea in much the same way it honored the Unknown Soldier of World War I, for whom these two will be close neighbors at his tomb.

But there was a difference. When, in 1921, that first Unknown was brought back to his homeland a great war had ended only three years before. The nations were at peace. There would be no more war, the world told itself.

Prepare For Defense

Today Congress was busy in this building preparing to provide billions more for defense against the possibility of a mighty nuclear conflict or of brush-fire wars like that which killed that man in Korea.

This was a world of new and confused events. Former enemies are now trusted allies; some who fought at the side of this nation now menace it.

In that hall of flowered tribute to the dead Americans was an official remembrance from Germany.

Washington Area Population Gains By 200 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The population of the metropolitan Washington area has increased nearly 200 per cent since 1930, the Washington Board of Trade said yesterday.

As of Jan. 1, the area, which includes parts of Virginia and Maryland, had an estimated population of 2,005,000. In 1930, the population was 672,198.

In the 1950 census Washington was the 9th largest city in the nation. Its metropolitan area was 11th largest.

According to the board of trade, metropolitan Washington's growth since 1930 was exceeded percentage-wise only by that of Houston, Tex., whose increase was 232.6 per cent.

Other percentage growths for period included metropolitan Baltimore, 63.5.

Coty Asks de Gaulle Be Called To Power

de Gaulle's Rise Set Up In Advance

Preparations Ran Back To Six Weeks Before Declaration

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle's approach to the doorstep of power in France seems to have happened fast. But there is a wide belief that it was planned in advance.

Correspondents returning from Algiers have seen officers there who talk freely of the preparations for it. Preparations ran back at least six weeks before de Gaulle's declaration last week that he was ready to assume the powers of the republic, the officers say.

The government of Premier Felix Gaillard was in distress when Defense Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas made a brief tour of Algiers. With him went his bright assistant, Leon Delbecq. That was before Gaillard was defeated and was succeeded by Pierre Pflimlin.

Contacted Local Groups

These stories are hard to establish blow by blow but the reports reaching Paris are that at each stop, Delbecq got in touch with local groups, evidently independently of Chaban-Delmas.

He told them to be ready for a rush toward de Gaulle as a quick aftermath of the fall of the Gaillard government. How much of this was told to de Gaulle is a mystery. Likely he never had any hand in the sort of uprising that developed in Algiers, for his character and reputation seem much against this. But when it came, it was threatening, and de Gaulle acted with his famed announcement.

Already In Algeria

It was only notable that Delbecq was already in Algeria when the great uprising of pro-de Gaulle officers and local colonial leaders took place May 13.

But these things now seem so far in the past, so much has happened and so much is happening almost hourly.

There have been two midnight conferences to prepare the way for the entry of de Gaulle into power and there is scarcely a soul in Paris who believes it will be long delayed.

Traffic Toll Drops Again

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll, for the sixth straight month, dropped in April and highway deaths in the first four months this year were the lowest for the comparable period since 1950.

The National Safety Council said the four-month traffic toll this year of 10,330 was 8 per cent below the toll of 11,200 in the first four months of 1957.

The April highway deaths totaled 2,600, a decrease of 12 per cent from the 2,950 killed in April last year. It was the biggest decline for any month since October 1956, the Council said, and the 16th in the last 17 months in which deaths were the same or less than in corresponding months of the previous year.

The Council said the continuing decline in the traffic death toll cannot be attributed to less travel.

Said Sincere Tribute Army Trumpeter Plays 'Taps' For Thousands

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who has played taps thousands of times at graves of servicemen will sound the solemn notes tomorrow for the interment of the unknowns of the last two wars.

Sgt. L. C. George Myers of Indianapolis, Ind., is confident he won't go flat. He says he's never played taps flat because "I don't think I've ever played it mechanically or thoughtlessly."

"To me it's still an individual and sincere tribute to the deceased," said the U.S. Army band's first trumpeter.

Church Pays Final Tribute To Cardinal

Three Thousand Including Laymen Jam St. Ignace

ROME (AP)—Princes of the Roman Catholic Church knelt in the black-draped church of St. Ignace today in final tribute to Samuel Cardinal Stritch.

Three thousand priests, monks and laymen jammed the 300-year-old church in the center of Rome for the funeral service.

The 70-year-old archbishop of Chicago died Tuesday after a stroke. His body will be flown to the United States tonight for burial in Chicago.

Final Absolution

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, senior member of the College of Cardinals, gave final absolution in the name of Pope Pius XII in the final ritual of the colorful hour and a quarter service.

Bishop Martin O'Connor of Scranton, Pa., rector of the North American College in Rome, conducted the funeral service.

The body of Cardinal Stritch lay in an immense coffin in the center of the church. It was covered with black and gold satin and encircled by 100 tall, white candles.

Had Been Propitied

Cardinal Stritch had been made propitied of the congregation to take over the work which Cardinal Fumasoni Biondi has been unable to handle because of illness.

Illness sent Cardinal Stritch to the hospital within hours after his arrival in Rome to take over his new duties. His right arm was amputated because of a circulatory disturbance. As he seemed to be recovering, he suffered the stroke.

President Eisenhower signed a bill Friday authorizing a federal pension to surviving Confederate veterans. The monthly pension is $101.59 or $135.45 if a full-time attendant is needed.

Water Snags Liquor-Filled Thief's Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—One on the house wasn't enough for Wilfred Dart.

After rifling a dentist's office, Dart lingered for hours over a bottle of scotch. Then his final undoing was, of all things, water.

Dart, 53, is a former Boston bootlegger.

Police said he forced his way into the dentist's office. All he could find was about $30 worth of stamps — and the scotch.

It was in the wee small hours. There was no hurry. One nip led to another. Came the dawn and Dart started slowly to leave through the window he had jammed.

Outside, hosing down the sidewalk was Thomas Lenahan, superintendent and chief window washer. Lenahan saw Dart and asked him what he was doing there. "I'm the window washer," said Dart.

"You're a liar. I'm the window washer," snorted Lenahan.

Lenahan turned the hose on Dart, holding him at bay until police arrived. Dart was booked on charges of burglary and possession of burglar's tools.

FBI Hunts Trio Which Hijacked Cigarettes, Candy

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police and FBI agents are searching for three men who hijacked a $25,000 load of cigarettes and candy from a truck on busy West Carson Street.

James Elmer Bethinger, 23, said at least two of the men were armed when they forced their way into the cab of his truck Wednesday.

He said they blindfolded him, tied him, laid him on the floor and drove to some spot where they removed part of the cargo.

They then drove the truck to Boundary Street where they abandoned it with Bethinger still tied on the floor. He kicked the truck door until passersby heard him and freed him.

Will Resign If Assembly Rejects Plea

Sees No Alternative As State Divided, On Brink Of Civil War

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty is calling Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power with a warning that only he can save France from civil war.

The President announced this action to Parliament today. He said he will resign if the National Assembly refuses to accept de Gaulle as premier.

De Gaulle immediately left his country home for Paris.

Reaction Mixed

Coty's unprecedented message was received in the National Assembly with shouts of derision from the Communists and cheers from the Gaullists on the right.

"We find ourselves on the brink of civil war," Coty said.

The Assembly recessed and parties began feverish caucuses. First reports said the Socialists, who hold the balance of power, were still firmly opposed to de Gaulle.

Coty told the Assembly he could see no alternative to de Gaulle. He said he intended to designate de Gaulle as chief of government and if the Assembly did not accept him he would resign and turn the presidency over to Andre le Troquer, speaker of the National Assembly and constitutionally the man in line to take Coty's office.

Weak Democracy

Coty mourned that France, one of the oldest of democracies, was also one of the weakest.

"Thus, if I have passed the traditional limits which were imposed upon my predecessors, I believed myself authorized to do so," Coty said in his first official statement to the Assembly since he thanked it on taking office in 1954.

"The state does not cease to be divided," Coty said. "Now we find ourselves on the brink of civil war."

The Assembly was packed as le Troquer, dressed in traditional white tie and tails, read the message.

Tumult Breaks Out

At the end of his speech, tumult broke out in the chamber. The Communists roared disapproval and the Right cheered de Gaulle.

Premier Pierre Pflimlin, ex-Premier Guy Mollet, the Socialist leader, and Interior Minister Jules Moch, the real powers in the outgoing Cabinet, stood expressionless as le Troquer spoke.

Officials at Elysee Palace, the French White House, said intelligence sources felt a de Gaulle military coup was only a matter of hours.

This was supported by a warning statement from the Gaullist junta in Algiers that it would react vigorously if de Gaulle's accession to power is further delayed.

De Gaulle held a secret midnight meeting with the titular leaders of Parliament in an effort

Planes Need No Runways

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fighter planes can be sent aloft without runways—hurled into the air by rocket motors.

The Air Force disclosed how it could be done in a demonstration that rocketed a big F100D fighter into the air from a mobile launcher.

In time of war, said the Air Force, fighter planes could be dispersed in rough, desolate terrain, then fired into the air like missiles when needed.

Trooper Disarms Soldier Attempting To Grab Girls

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—State Trooper John T. Aneskievich, 29, drove his car into a Pennsylvania Turnpike service station yesterday and immediately was called upon to disarm a soldier who he said was attempting to abduct three college girls.

The girls, students of Pembroke College at Providence, R.I., said they had been terrorized by the gunman for several minutes before the trooper subdued Nicholas Mischenko of Fairless Hills, Pa.

The students were Margaret Loring, 18, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Marian Sherman, 19, of Silver Spring, Md.; and Katherine Guthrie, 19, of Indiana, Pa.

State Police said the girls were heading home for summer vacations. They stopped for lunch at the King of Prussia Howard Johnson restaurant and service station. This is the story they gave police.

Upon finishing their lunch they went to the car in the parking lot. Mischenko approached Miss Loring with a drawn .32-caliber pistol.

"Get over to the car and get in," he snapped. "I want to get out of here."

Miss Sherman, about to enter the car, saw the soldier point the weapon at her friend. As Mischenko

Alaska State Bill To Face Senate Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for Alaska statehood shifted today to the Senate, where Southern Democrats appeared ready to fight it.

Sources close to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said they were confident the bill — which passed the House 208-166 Wednesday — would come to the Senate floor by mid-June.

But Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), an avowed opponent of statehood for Alaska, Hawaii, said that if an attempt is made to consider either bill in the Senate he will offer as an amendment an equally controversial bill to limit review powers of the Supreme Court. Opponents of the Supreme Court measure have indicated they would talk at length against it.

Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.), Insular Affairs Committee chairman, said he plans to go before the next meeting of the Democratic Policy Committee and insist that the Alaska bill be scheduled for floor action without further delay.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California expressed belief there are enough votes in the Senate to pass both an Alaska and a Hawaii bill.

At the close of 1957, the total population of Canada stood at 16,900,000.

Bridge Rail Plea Denied

A request for the County Roads Department to erect a guard rail on a three-foot section at the end of the Waterliff Run Bridge in Lonaconing was turned down today by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said he investigated and advised the board that the matter was up to either the Town of Lonaconing, the State Roads Commission or the property owner adjacent to the bridge.

The request for the work came after a youngster fell from the bridge and wound up in the hospital. The three-foot space through which he fell is, not on county property, it was emphasized.

A large amount of air conditioning equipment is now being shipped to Alaska.

Auto Worker Decision Due On GM Pact

Reuther Must Accept Two-Year Contract Or Operate Without One

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther faces a tough decision today.

The United Auto Workers president re-enters contract talks with General Motors for the first time since they got under way more than two months ago.

Reuther has to decide before midnight tonight whether to accept GM's proposal to extend the 1955 contract another two years or comply with GM's terms for operating without a contract.

Spells Out Own Terms GM, world's largest manufacturing firm, Wednesday night spelled out its own terms for keeping its plants in the United States open if there is no settlement when the contract runs out tonight.

The union include abandonment of the union shop and checkoff of union dues — the life blood of the powerful industrial union.

GM's month ago set tonight's showdown by canceling its contract with the union instead of, as in the past, waiting for the union to set the date.

Ford and Chrysler are expected to set the same terms in event the union fails to reach an agreement with them by contract termination time Sunday midnight.

Sheathes Strike Weapon

Reuther has sheathed his strike weapon because he says it would be insane to strike the car makers in a recession year when there is a huge inventory of unsold cars.

GM laid down its terms in letters to hourly rate employees represented by the UAW and the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), whose contract also ends at midnight tonight.

James B. Carey, president of the IUE, called the GM letter "a display of arrogance that could lead only to jungle warfare."

The UAW declined to comment.

No Charges Set In Fatal Mishap

Authorities said today they do not anticipate placing any charges against Nelson L. Spidle, driver of the bus which collided with an automobile driven by William H. Wilson Jr., 21, of 156 Frederick Street, who died of resultant injuries.

Edwin R. Lilya, Allegany County criminal investigator, said that following an investigation into the fatal accident, the state's attorney's office found no indication of negligence on the part of the bus driver.

City Police Officer Elmer Shank, who made the initial investigation, conferred with the state's attorney's office and said no charges would be placed against Spidle. The accident happened Monday on East Oldtown Road.

Services for the victim were conducted today at the Silex Funeral Residence by Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Baptist Church. Interment was in Mt. Hermon Cemetery.

Missile Sites Operation Set By Reserves

Air National Guard, Air Force Units Due Under Tentative Plan

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force disclosed tentative plans today to operate Bomarc guided missile sites with Air National Guard or Air Force Reserve units.

LL Gen. William E. Hall, chief of the Continental Air Command which supervises reserve activities, said the character of interceptor missiles may be such that the sites could better be manned by reservists than by regulars.

Hall said, in a report prepared for delivery to the Aviation Writers Assn. annual meeting, that interceptor missiles such as the new 400-mile Bomarc actually may never have to be fired. Thus, he said, the essential part of manning the sites may become one of maintenance — for periods of months or years.

"It is entirely possible that there will be psychological factors concerning such an operation that can better be met by reservists than by members of the active force," Hall said.

A May 6 memorandum from the office of Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, ordered an investigation into the possible use of Air Reserve technicians in the Bomarc program.

to determine whether a majority of the deputies would accept him as a strong-man premier.

The main barrier to republican France's willing the government to de Gaulle was the Socialist party. Many Socialist leaders in Parliament led peaceful street demonstrations against de Gaulle Wednesday by 50,000 or more Parisians.

The Communists also were ready to oppose de Gaulle with more strike calls and possibly street fighting if their bloc of one quarter of the Assembly could not find enough voting partners to deny him the premiership.

Third Money Shortage Revealed By U. Of Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A third case of missing funds has been reported by University of Maryland officials.

The latest, which came to light late yesterday, concerns an apparent shortage in the agricultural accounts at Maryland State College at Princess Anne, Md.

The Eastern Shore school is the Negro branch of the university.

A university spokesman said a member of the staff was dismissed when the irregularity of funds was discovered at Maryland State two years ago.

Two other apparent shortages were disclosed belatedly by university officials during the past week.

Meanwhile, Elliott M. Elliott, 46-year-old former administrative assistant at the university, was charged Wednesday on three counts of forgery and two of grand larceny. He was accused in connection with a $18,000 shortage, although he is charged specifically with missing funds totaling $1,549.

State's Attorney Blair H. Smith said Elliott, of Takoma Park, was released in $10,000 bond. He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing June 6 in Hyattsville and Smith said he would present the case to the grand jury next week.

The other shortage disclosed by the university was in accounts of the pharmacy at University Hospital in Baltimore. Receipts collected in the pharmacy were not turned into the general fund during April, a spokesman said. A supervisory worker was discharged as a result.

J. Harold Grady, Baltimore state's attorney, said there was no evidence to justify criminal prosecution in connection with that case. It was believed to be a minor shortage of less than $100.

Altoona Sets Bus Authority

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — City Council by a 3-2 vote has approved establishment of a five-member authority to operate a bus system within city limits.

The authority will decide whether or not to buy the equipment of the Logan Valley Bus Co. for $300,000. The firm says it will abandon bus service to this community of 80,000 on Aug. 1 because of financial difficulties.

Former Bank Cashier Given Prison Term

Hunted For Seven Months, Mt. Hope Man Gets Four Years

CHARLESTON (AP) — The former cashier at the Bank of Mount Hope who was hunted for almost seven months has been sentenced to four years in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., for embezzlement.

Federal Judge Ben Moore handed out the penalty in U. S. Southern District Court here yesterday, specifying that William G. Potter was given four four-year sentences to run concurrently.

Potter, 57, and the father of two sons, had been a trusted employee at the Mount Hope bank for 35 years and one of the Fayette County community's leading citizens.

He disappeared last Aug. 27. The following day, it was discovered that the vault in the bank had been locked by its timing device and could not be opened for 72 hours. Early reports speculated that Potter might be in the vault.

Last March 10, an alert state policeman arrested a man driving a car along Kanawha Boulevard here because, the trooper explained, he was a suspicious-looking character. Potter was wearing a crude disguise comprised of sun glasses and bandages about his face.

Later in March, Potter pleaded guilty to a federal indictment presented in Bluefield charging him with embezzlement of about $41,000. The indictment stipulated that Potter took $31,590 from the bank on August 27. Three other counts listed earlier, smaller shortages.

Potter told the court he did not know what had happened to the largest portion of the money. It was not found when he was arrested.

Byron T. Morris, the investigating probation officer, said Potter consorted with three women and frequented horse and dog racing tracks in the West after his disappearance. Potter had told the federal court earlier that he spent most of the time after August 27 in the areas of Arizona and Colorado.

Morris told the court yesterday that Potter "spent lots of time sightseeing, attending dog and horse races and making trips to Wyoming and Arizona to attend races" while he was in Denver, Colo.

Judge Moore said Potter will receive credit for the time he has spent in jail since his arrest March 10.

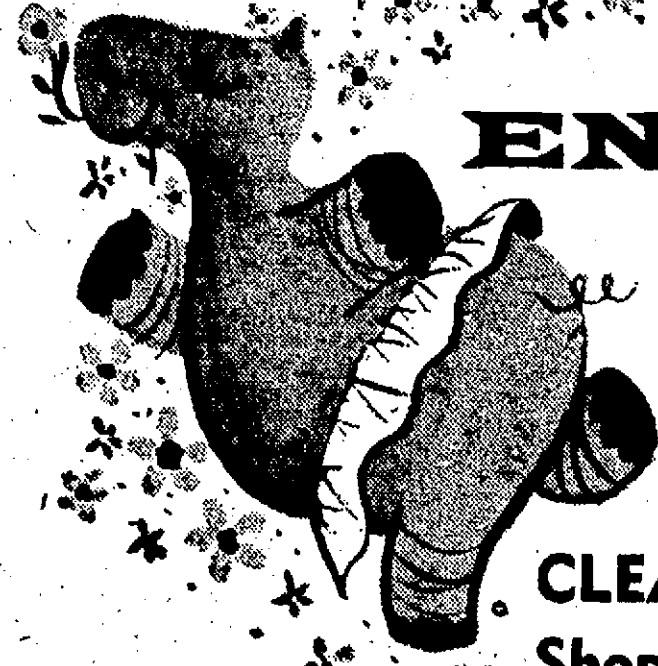

When sentence was pronounced, Potter displayed no particular emotion. His only observable action was a shoving of his tongue up back of his left cheek as a deputy U. S. marshal escorted him from the courtroom.

Potter's wife and two sons were in the courtroom during yesterday's proceedings, which began about 11:30 a.m., were recessed at 12:45 p. m. and reopened after lunch at 2 p. m.

George Washington presented a fire engine to Alexandria, Va., in 1775. He bought the engine in Philadelphia for $400.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Memorial Day

ANOTHER OF OUR great American holidays falls tomorrow. Brought into being somewhat less than a century ago, Memorial Day, or Decoration Day, as it is often called, was originally dedicated to the memory of those heroes who had fallen in battle in defense of their country, or who, having served in the armed forces of the United States, had departed this life in the natural course of events. The decoration of the graves of these brave men was considered a fitting way in which to memorialize them. On the first Memorial Day and for many years after, the soldiers thus honored were those who had participated in the War for Independence, the War of 1812, the Mexican War and the Civil War. Four times within a comparatively short time, this young nation had been compelled to take up arms, not only to win its freedom, but to preserve it.

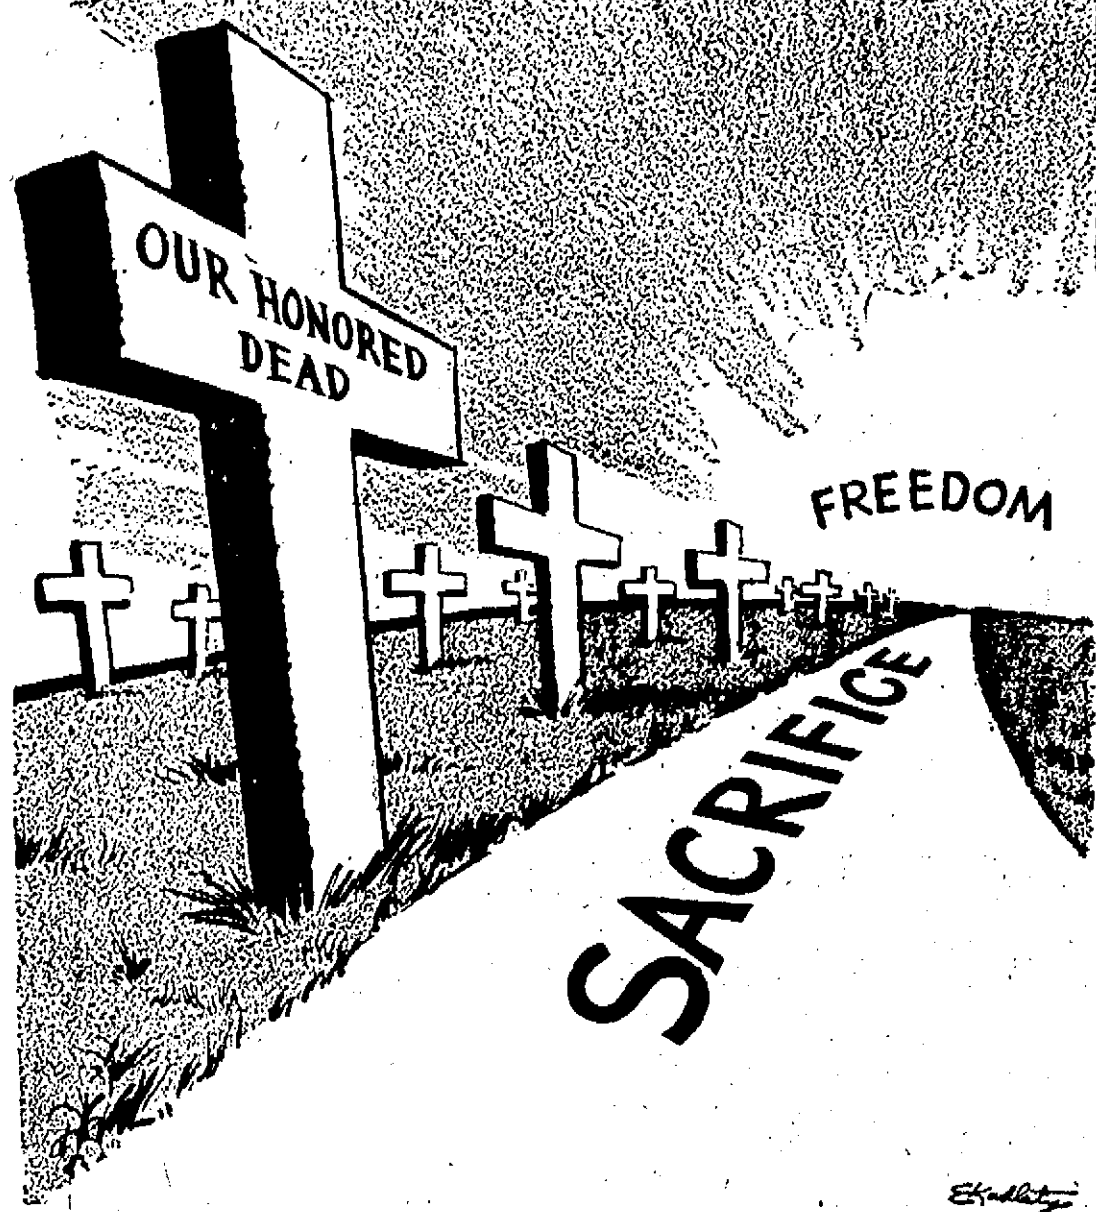

THE CUSTOM of decorating the graves of civilians soon became a part of the Memorial Day observance. Whether or not a family had soldier dead, its members went to the cemetery and by placing flowers on the graves of their loved ones, gave evidence of their continued devotion. But at that, Memorial Day was for the most part a patriotic holiday. Exercises in which military organizations took a leading part, were common in all parts of the country, and as a rule there was a stirring address by an orator chosen for the occasion. This phase of Memorial Day has not fallen into the discard, but in many places it continues, although the address of the day does not hold the prominent place it once did. The G.A.R. was formerly active in the work of placing flags on the graves of veterans, but there is no G.A.R. today and younger veterans belonging to the newer organizations, perform this work. The real veterans of the present are the men who served in the Spanish-American war, and their ranks are rapidly thinning. The American Legion and the several organizations which have grown out of World War II are now in the forefront.

BUT THE POINT we would make today is that the American people have not forgotten their soldier dead and it is to be devoutly hoped that as long as this government exists, these men will never be forgotten. But the significance of Memorial Day has been extended. Coming as it does when the weather is fine, it has become a day for family gatherings and picnics. It is a day of pleasure as well as of patriotic memory. That is as it should be. There is no reason why it should be a day of sadness or gloom just because on it, in a special way, we give thought to those who have gone before. But the pleasure of the day should be held within reasonable bounds. It goes without saying that countless persons will take advantage of this holiday to make excursions by automobile, perhaps to distant places. The roads will be crowded and driving risks increased. So The Evening Times feels duty bound to sound a warning. Take care to avoid accidents. Do not be in such a hurry that the rules of safe and sane driving will be forgotten or ignored. And above all things, remember this: Gasoline and alcohol should never be mixed. This is a combination that can lead only to disaster.

An Hour Of Danger

THREE FACTORS seem to be mainly responsible for recent mid-air crashes between airliners and military jets. Every cockpit has blind spots. Modern aircraft, especially jets, are so fast the human eye can't spot them in time. Most important, military flight control has not been geared to civilian air safety requirements. It is this third factor that is dealt with in emergency rules ordered by President Eisenhower. The rules are good as far as they go, but there is still a crying need for better permanent regulations. The other two problems can be solved only by sign and sighting methods. That will miss long-range safety program also will take time—but not too much time, let us hope. Air control must catch up with the jet age. Every hour of depending on emergency rules alone is an hour of potential danger in the sky.

Demos Till Ground For 1960 Harvest

WASHINGTON — Eager Democrats made 1960 news last week end.

A "Give 'em hell" Adlai Stevenson addressed a $100-a-plate dinner for 2,600 party workers in Chicago during which he paid marked and repeated deference to former President Truman, who was among the guests. Their quick impression was that Stevenson might as well have included an announcement that he would run again for President next time.

In Milwaukee and Madison, Wis., Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts attracted overflow crowds and raucous cheering. In the first city, the state's principal Democratic stronghold, he drew its biggest crowd for the most ample war chest the party has ever enjoyed in a mid-term election.

The result there was that Representative Clement J. Zablocki of Milwaukee's Fourth District predicted that Kennedy would sweep the 1960 Wisconsin Presidential primary. Zablocki offered to head the Kennedy slate of delegates. Kennedy didn't quite say yes.

MUCH MORE of this type of reaction and the young Senator will be committed to primary campaigning. He will meet some tough pace-setters of greater experience and noted vigor.

Almost simultaneously, the Minnesota Democrat-Farmer-Labor convention officially endorsed Senator Hubert H. Humphrey for the Presidency in 1960. In a gesture of extreme endorsement, the convention also endorsed Representative Eugene McCarthy, as a candidate against the incumbent Republican, Senator Edward J. Thye.

McCarthy was hotly opposed by Eugene Anderson, former Truman ambassador to Denmark. At almost the last minute, Gov. Orville L. Freeman backed Mrs. Anderson. Humphrey carefully remained neutral.

McCarthy is an effective and attractive young legislator; he has a good chance against Thye. But whether or not McCarthy prevails in that race, he and his friends must necessarily back Humphrey should the Senator decide — as undoubtedly he will — to enter Wisconsin against Kennedy.

ANOTHER primary pace-setter still waiting in the wings is Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, an iron man on the circuit and a prime favorite of labor, which has so important a voice in Wisconsin Democratic politics.

No Democrat contested Wisconsin against Senator Estes Kefauver in 1956. In 1960, it may become the make-or-break primary for numerous hopefuls.

One figure who will not be in Wisconsin's or any other primary is Stevenson. He has faced the fact that his 1956 campaign was less effective than his 1952 effort. He blames it largely on the drain of time, money and ideas which the hard-fought primaries cost him.

Stevenson's main chance, it now seems, will depend on his receiving, as he did in 1952 from his party and its leader, one clear call.

U. S. Learns How To Recover Missile Nose

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Army's successful recovery of the nose cone of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile puts the United States at least even and maybe ahead of the Russians.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris has said he assumes that the Russians have solved the problem of getting a nose cone to re-enter the atmosphere without burning up. The Russians themselves have never bragged specifically on the point.

Russian scientists have talked a little about nose cones made of titanium-boron metal-ceramic and wall sweat that evaporates to reduce heat. Both these theories are known to U.S. scientists. And they say the American methods are better.

DR. HUGH DRYDEN, Director of National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics, told the House space committee a month ago that in 1952, "NACA's Ames Aeronautical Laboratory solved atmosphere re-entry for ballistic missiles."

This statement is considered scientifically accurate in the same sense that the Duryea brothers successfully ran the first American automobile in 1892. It was a long hard haul from today's 300-horsepower V-8 jobs.

What Dr. Dryden was talking about was H. Julian Allen's discovery that a blunt nose cone would create a shock wave ahead of the missile. This would reduce speeds from 15,000 to perhaps 500 miles an hour and reduce 99 per cent of the heat from friction with the atmosphere. A sharp nose cone burns up like a meteor or like the spent Russian Sputniks I and II.

The nose cone re-entry problem is basically one of reducing a shock equivalent to jamming your car into a stone mountain at 60 miles an hour, pressures of several hundred pounds per square inch and temperatures of 4,000 degrees.

The research job since 1932 has been to refine the Allen blunt-nose discovery. Among the problems are getting shapes that will give the best performance and reducing the weight, which was at first astronomical.

EVENTUALLY, the nose cone of a ballistic missile must protect the nuclear warhead from burning up. And on manned space vehicles to come, the nose cone must protect the microbes, mice, monkeys or men inside from being burned up.

Last Aug. 2 the Army successfully fired a Jupiter C (Redstone) missile 500 miles high and 1,300 miles range with a four-foot scale model nose cone. This was the model President Eisenhower showed during his televised speech on missile development last Nov. 7.

This nose cone was developed by Cincinnati Testing Laboratory under contract to Army Ballistic Missile Center at Huntsville, Ala. This nose cone reduced temperatures to not over 150 degrees. It slowed itself by ejecting a parachute which did not burn up on the red hot metal. It put out a red hot metal. It put out a dye marker and shark repellent to aid recovery.

THESE SAME principles were used on the full-scale nose cone — three times as large as the first test — successfully fired on the Jupiter at Cape Canaveral May 18.

Army considers that this test definitely proves a nuclear warhead on a ballistic missile could re-enter the earth's atmosphere and be delivered on target.

Army spokesmen cannot reveal the secrets of the nose cone structure. They will say only that it operates on a revolutionary principle—a new departure not related to other nose cone developments.

Air Force has at least two other nose-cone research projects.

General Electric's Missile Development department at Philadelphia is working on nose cones for Atlas Intercontinental and Thor intermediate range missiles.

Avco Manufacturing Corp. of Lawrence, Mass., is testing nose cone development for the Air Force Titan, largest of the U.S. ICBMs, which will be test-fired later this year.

Just make up your mind that things will work out okay when you think they won't, and they probably will.

To keep from being a yard around, get out the lawn-mower and work around the yard.

If it's any satisfaction to the hair dressers, they certainly aren't the only ones suffering from lack of permanent work.

We don't have to worry any more about not being able to take it with us. We can't even hang on to it while we're here.

In San Francisco motorists did $7,000 damage to light poles up to this time in 1957 and only $13,000 thus far in 1958. They're beginning to see the light.

Summer is the time when lots of folks look for a more comfortable place to do nothing.

INFLATION STEP — Until May 23, despite all the inflation talk and plans, there had been no positive inflation in this country. There was only the rise of prices resulting from stoppage of international gold payments. Its domestic inflationary effect came from anticipation. People expected that there would be inflation, and so they proceeded to discount it.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — A clutch of otherwise balanced New Yorkers, including that pretty, blonde politician Mrs. Claire Booth Luce, are packing up their oxygen bottles and nose clamps these days and heading for warm waters.

The spring run of skin-divers is under way and you would be amazed at how many male and female adults yearn to get down deep underwater and experience what the Frenchman called "The rapture of the depths."

I am a relatively uncouth man and, therefore, reduce this poetic thought to its chemical facts: they yearn for nitrogen narcosis, or getting drunk under water.

PEOPLE of all social and economic levels have this abiding yen to walk around at the bottom of the sea, and although I have trapped many a one into conversation on the subject I never have been able to get a clear statement. The core of the urge seems to be that you experience a lovely, untroubled sense of freedom while living underwater.

This indicates to me that these New Yorkers need a psychiatrist more than they need a breathing tube. They are escapists, the hard way. They have a compulsion to get away from the grim fact of surface life and its tensions.

Down there, in the blue depths, with nothing more lethal than an inquisitive shark or irritated moray eel to bother you, you shuck away all the troubles of modern life and soon experience a sort of dreamland beauty of existence. That's what they say.

I TRIED it once in the early days of skin-diving. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer cinematographer who shall be nameless took me down to a cove near Palos Verdes, put a roped sash weight in my hand, slung Japanese fishing plates on my face and put me on a surfboard.

"Paddle out about 100 feet," he said, "and let go. This rope has you connected to the board and the sash weight will help you go down fast. If you want to come up, and I hope you will, just unleash the sash weight. There's a white bottom and no barracuda or morays."

Alas, When Bodyguards Talk

WASHINGTON — Moral of this essay is never get yourself in a spot where you must hire a bodyguard. If you do, then don't ever fire him, because he's likely to talk.

If you don't believe this, ask Max Block, boss of the Meat Cutters Union, Local 342, in New York. Somebody threatened to shoot poor old Max a few years back.

So he selected from among his own business agents a husky young man named Daniel Beaton as his bodyguard. Dan got a permit to carry a pistol and thereafter, wherever Max went, Dan went, too, with his cannon on his hip.

THEN IN A union squabble among the butchers, Max fired his bodyguard, and here was Dan before the Senate labor rackets committee, telling all. Max sat in back with his lawyer, while his ex-bodyguard told all. It was enough to make a fellow weep.

Beaton, a butcher himself until he became a union agent and or bodyguard, said every morning he reported for duty at Max's handsome home on Long Island.

"You always walked at his side," inquired committee counsel Robert Kennedy.

"No, I always walked a few steps ahead of him," said ex-bodyguard Beaton.

HE ADDED that his boss usually rose at 11 a. m. and during the racing season headed directly for the track. There, said he, Max invested between $1,500 and $2,500 every day in improving the breed of bangtails. Sometimes Dan bought the betting tickets, but not often, because his job was to stay by Max's side and keep him from being assassinated.

Every afternoon after the races, Dan continued, the boss hastened to the Black Angus Restaurant in New York where good beef was the specialty of the house. Max owned a piece of this eatery de luxe; Dan said the prime meat was delivered to it by union business agents in an assortment of union automobiles.

SOMETIMES Max would drop around the union office. There Dan said he several times heard Max phoning employers of union butchers, asking them to buy their wrapping paper from his

He was right. There were no barracuda or morays, but there were lobsters, or what pass for lobsters in Southern California. They don't have claws. I saw a big one huddled down in a hole in the rocks and hauled him out.

Don't ever do that. Their wildy flashing tails, made of exoskeleton cartilage and bone, can flay the skin from your chest to your belt-line and leave you raw and hurting. I dropped him and came back up for iodine and a long stay. From 1938 to 1958 is a long stay and it is going to be even longer.

SINCE THEN, of course, things have improved. In those days you gulped air and stayed down a minute at most. Now you can strap bottles of oxygen on your back, clutch a powered-spear in your right hand and get down there and stay until your oxygen runs out.

If a moray, shark, barracuda or anything else damaging shows up, you point your spear, press the trigger and skewer him.

You can do 200 feet, after training, and one San Francisco lawyer, though defunct, holds the world's record for depth. He dived and is known to have passed the 265-foot mark and that's the last anyone ever saw of him. He just kept going.

THAT IS THE peril, they say. You become so fascinated, so intent on depth that you reach a point of no return and keep going down to your ultimate destruction.

The French lad who wrote that charming and seductive book, "The World of Silence," made it clear that "the rapture of the depths" is a dangerous enslavement. You get yourself cock-eyed on nitrogen concentrations and are too drunk to do anything but sit there and smile idiotically as you slowly drown. You even welcome the arrival of death as the ultimate pleasure.

This, rubber fins and spears or not, is not my idea of fun and games.

The last time I looked I had no gills.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Frances Parkinson Keyes, our town's best-known and best-loved novelist, showed up at the Senate Ladies' "Welcome Home" luncheon for Pat Nixon the other day. A few other guests of local renown also appeared, including Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Looking remarkably unstrained, the Second Lady and the First Lady greeted each other. Then they spread themselves around and greeted the Senate Ladies.

The luncheon, held in the old Supreme Court chamber in the Capitol, turned out to be quite an affair; also very exclusive, because the Senate Ladies admit to membership only Senate Ladies. To even peek inside the door one must be the wife of a United States Senator, present or past—except on special occasions such as this when the bars are let down for the wives of the President and members of his Cabinet.

THE AFFAIR WAS proceeding chastely and decorously. The wife of the present Vice President extended warm greetings to the widow of the former Vice President; Jackie Kennedy and Dolores Bridges, the beautiful wives of the current senators from Massachusetts and New Hampshire, respectively, moved about welcoming senatorial widows. Mamie Eisenhower and Mrs. Postmaster General Summerfield beamed at Senate Ladies, regardless of political affiliations.

Our author, Mrs. Keyes, soon found herself in the vortex of this distinguished whirl. At the height of the handshaking and the cheek-pecking, she was singled out for inquiry by Mrs. Charles W. Tobey, widow of a former Senator from New Hampshire.

"Everybody here seems to have a reason for being present," said Mrs. Tobey with heavy sweetness. "May I inquire why you are here?"

"My reason is not unique," replied the famous novelist. "My late husband was a Senator."

"Indeed!" cried Mrs. Tobey. "May I inquire his name?"

"You may indeed," replied Mrs. Keyes. "He was Henry Wilder Keyes — and he served in the U. S. Senate from 1919 to 1937."

"How interesting," murmured Mrs. Tobey. "And may I inquire from which state?"

"You may inquire that too," replied Frances Parkinson Keyes, throwing the nation's most distinguished female group into conniptions. "He was from the same State as your husband—New Hampshire!"

THE SENATE Labor subcommittee, chairmanned by Senator John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, began to take on the aspects of an endurance contest the other day.

The principal witness, AFL-CIO President George Meany, had been interrogated by nearly every member of the subcommittee on proposed labor reform legislation, and there seemed nothing in the world left to ask—when Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, arrived belatedly.

Morse enveloped Meany into a colloquy on picketing. Soon they were agreeing like mad that picketing was an expression of a point of view and could never be illegal—so long as the picketers' signs bore the truth. Finally, members of the press took action. They fashioned signs and passed them up to Morse. The Senator burst into guffaws and showed them to the AFL-CIO head, who erupted too.

Morse and Meany agreed to adjourn. The signs read: "Morse is Unfair to Hungry Reporters."

High School Youths Plan Boys' State

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (AP) — Cabins and quarters were put in condition today for the arrival this weekend of a new contingent of high school youths to attend Mountaineer Boys' State.

The citizenship training camp, sponsored annually by the American Legion, opens Sunday at the State 4-H camp here.

John Kile, Charleston High senior who was elected governor of Boys State in 1957, will preside at the camp until his successor is chosen by ballot Tuesday. Other state and county officials to administer the Boys State government will be elected at the same time.

Campers, numbering around 500, are nominated by high school principals on the basis of scholarship and citizenship. They are sponsored at the camp by local civic and fraternal organizations.

Chief Counselor W. R. Fugitt of Beckley and other staff counselors and instructors donate their services.

West Virginia's Boys State is the second oldest in the nation. Among those expected this year will be Wulf Menzel, an exchange student from Germany who has spent the past academic year attending St. Albans High School. Gov. Cecil H. Underwood is scheduled to address the camp members next Wednesday afternoon, June 4.

Four Members Of WVU Staff End Service

MORGANTOWN (AP) — President Irvin Stewart announced that four members of the West Virginia University staff will retire June 30.

They are:

Dr. P. I. Reed, first director of the School of Journalism and a member of the faculty since 1920; Dr. J. Ben Robinson, who came to the university to organize and serve as first dean of the School of Dentistry and has been officially connected with it since 1932.

Dr. O. D. Lambert, historical records specialist in the University Library and a member of the staff since 1935 and Miss Jennie D. Boughner, who joined the library staff in 1915 and at present is extension assistant there.

All four will be honor guests of the Alumni Assn. at its annual luncheon Saturday.

Dr. Reed will be succeeded on July 1 by Dr. Warren K. Agee, chairman of the department of Journalism at Texas Christian University. Dr. Robinson's successor will be Dr. Kenneth V. Randolph, who for the past year has been associate dean of the school of dentistry.

W. Va. Crops Not Hurt By Recent Wind, Rain

CHARLESTON (AP) — Last week's wind and rain squalls which caused considerable property damage in west-central counties resulted in little or no damage to crops.

This was the word today from the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. It said that temperatures last week were close to normal for this season, but rainfall varied greatly as a result of scattered showers and thunderstorms.

The cool, wet weather generally was a hindrance to farm activity. "As soil conditions permitted," the service said, "farmers were planting corn, cultivating potatoes, spreading lime and fertilizer, and cutting hay."

About 70 per cent of the corn crop is now in the ground, the service reported. Prospects are evident for a good apple and peach crop in the commercial belt.

Glenn Beall Jr. Named GOP Group Chairman

J. Glenn Beall Jr., Frostburg insurance man and realtor, last night was appointed chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, replacing James S. Getty, who resigned.

The meeting was held at the office of Getty, state's attorney, in the Union Street County Building.

Following discussion of naming a new chairman, Edgar M. Lewis, and Thomas Elias, committee members for over 20 years, declined to accept the position.

The members then unanimously selected Beall, who will assume duties immediately, Getty said.

J. Kenneth Morgan was named treasurer, replacing Ernest B. Treat, who was defeated in the primary election May 20. Secretary of the committee is Woodrow W. Gurley.

The new chairman is a former president of the Federation of Young Republicans of Maryland and is active in Republican political circles. Other members of the committee are Victor M. Hebb, Thomas W. Williams and Melvin S. Sloan.

In handing in his resignation, Getty pointed out "in my capacity of state's attorney and as a candidate, although unopposed by either party, I am of the opinion that the chairman should be someone who is not a candidate for political office."

He said he intends to campaign for the GOP candidates in the November general election.

MEDAL WINNER—Carol A. Dunlap (above) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Dunlap, 521 Prince George Street, will receive an award from the Woodmen of the World for proficiency in American history. The award was started this year. Miss Dunlap is a junior student at Fort Hill High School.

11 Complete Parent-Child Study Course

Eleven leaders in the Allegany County parent-child study program yesterday completed a two-day workshop and will spend the summer studying content material in preparation for the 1958-59 program which will start in September.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county school system, said another workshop is scheduled for August 26 and 27. That workshop will be concerned with the use of such resource materials as films, film strips and plays.

Plans for the coming school year call for meetings to be held weekly or bi-weekly, starting either in September or January. No groups will meet in December. Schedules will be arranged so all groups end before April 1.

Dr. Fred Thompson of the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland served as workshop consultant. Higgins and the three visiting teachers, Miss Esther M. Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Eugene J. Hopkins, attended the sessions.

Leaders who attended included Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman, Frostburg; Mrs. Janelle McFarland, Frostburg; Mrs. Ruby Adams, Cresaptown; Mrs. Katherine Kyle, Flintstone; Mrs. Juanita Isminger, Roberts Place, and Mrs. Kathleen Kave, this city, all of whom served during the past year, and Mrs. Margaret Wolfe, Oldtown; Mrs. Jean Howard, Baltimore Pike, Mrs. Homer Berry and Mrs. Frank Simpson, both of this city, and Mrs. Louise Kiddy, Westernport, who are beginning leaders.

Pulitzer Prize Winner
Used Stevenson, Taps

By ROBERT EUNSON
LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) —

Story that became a classic, is still modest and unassuming. In 1921 Simpson, a member of the Associated Press Washington staff, covered the burial of the Unknown Soldier and won world-wide acclaim for his account.

Now 77, tall and lean, his eyes crinkle as he recalls those dull, gray days so long ago.

He has not written a news story in 12 years, but he has a good reporter's memory for details. "On Nov. 9, 1921," he recalled, "we were getting ready to go down to the Washington Navy Yard to meet the cruiser Olympia, Adm. George Dewey's flagship at Manila. It was bringing in the Unknown Soldier from France. I remember one of the War Department officials said, 'I hope the press makes an epoch out of this and not a eulogy.'"

Simpson had known war from first hand. As a lad of 17 he was a bugler in the Philippines during the Spanish American War. It was there he memorized the words of the Army call, "Taps." It was there, too, that he became a fan of Robert Louis Stevenson, whose "Requiem" lent Simpson the mood, simplicity and tone for his Unknown Soldiers stories.

"I never thought of myself as an important writer," he said. "I don't to this day. I always appreciated good writing though. I read a lot by Robert Louis Stevenson, Jack London and others. He was a friend of Jack London's in the great novelist's heyday in San Francisco, Simpson's birthplace.

After the Spanish-American War Simpson came home to California and went into the newspaper business. He was on the Oakland Tribune and then a small newspaper in Tonopah, Nev. By 1914 he was in Washington with The Associated Press.

On his assignment to write the Unknown Soldier stories, he went in the long line that filed past the catafalque to capture the feeling of the crowd.

Later he picked up his friend Steve Early, then an AP editor in Washington and subsequently press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Together they went to Arlington for the entombment.

Simpson's lead on that event leaned heavily on Robert Louis Stevenson.

Stevenson's "Requiem" begins: "Under the wide and starry sky, dig the grave and let me lie."

Simpson began his story: "Under the wide and starry skies of his own home land, America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars."

As he neared the end, he realized he needed something that would cut right through to the hearts of the American people. He remembered the lines of "Taps." And they rolled from his typewriter:

"Fades the light
And afar
Goeth day, cometh night
And a star
Leadeth all, speedeth all
To their rest."

That did it. There was a clamor for the name of the author of the newspaper articles. The ban on by-lines in The AP was relaxed and Kirk Simpson won the first Pulitzer Prize ever awarded a news agency man.

Bridge Meet Changed

The Bridge Club sponsored by the City Recreation Department will not meet as scheduled tomorrow evening at the Naval Reserve Training Center, although play will be resumed on Friday, June 6.

Description Of Burial Of First
Unknown Soldier Became Classic

EDITOR'S NOTE—Tomorrow in Arlington National Cemetery two unknown American servicemen will be buried. These men, who lost their lives in World War II and the Korean War, will join the Unknown Soldier of World War I, who has been alone in the memorial since Nov. 11, 1921.

On that day more than 36 years ago, one of the most famous news stories of all time was written by Kirk L. Simpson, then a member of the Washington staff of The Associated Press. A major portion of his Pulitzer Prize-winning account is reproduced below.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1921—(By The Associated Press)—Under the wide and starry skies of his own homeland, America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars.

Alone, he lies in the narrow cell of stone that guards his body; but his soul has entered into the spirit that is America. Wherever liberty is held close in men's hearts, the honor and the glory and the pledge of high endeavor poured out over this nameless one of fame, will be told and sung by Americans for all time.

Scrolled across the marble arch of the memorial raised to American soldier and sailor dead, everywhere, which stands like a monument behind his tomb, runs this legend: "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The words were spoken by the martyred Lincoln over the dead at Gettysburg. And today with voice strong with determination and ringing with deep emotion another President echoed that high resolve over the coffin of the soldier who died for the flag in France.

Great men in the world's affairs heard that high purpose reiterated by the man who stands at the head of the American people. Tomorrow they will gather in the city that stands almost in the shadow of the new American shrine of liberty dedicated today. They will talk of peace; and of the curbing of the havoc of war.

They will speak of the war in France, that robbed this soldier of life and name and brought death to comrades of all nations by the hundreds of thousands. And in their ears when they meet must ring President Harding's declaration today beside that flag-wrapped, honor-laden bier:

"There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare."

All day long the nation poured out its heart in pride and glory for the nameless American. Before the first crash of the minute guns roared its knell for the dead from the shadow of the Washington monument, the people who claim him as their own were trooping out to do him honor. They lined the long road from the Capitol to the hillside where he sleeps tonight; they flowed like a tide over the slopes about his burial place. They choked the bridges that lead across the river to the fields of the brave, in which he is the last comer. Soldiers, sailors and marines—all played their part in the thrilling spectacle as the cortege rolled along. And just behind the casket, with its faded French flowers on the draped flag, walked the President, the chosen leader of a hundred million; in whose name he was chief mourner at his bier. Beside him strode the man under whom the fallen hero had lived and died in France, Gen. Pershing, wearing only the single medal of victory that every American soldier might wear as his only decoration.

Behind came the carriage in which rode Woodrow Wilson, also stricken down by infirmities as he served in the highest place of the nation, just as the humble private riding in such state ahead had gone down before a shell or bullet. For that dead man's sake, the former President had put aside his dread of seeming to parade his physical weakness and risked health, perhaps life, to appear among the mourners for the fallen.

After President Harding and most of the high dignitaries of the government had turned aside at the White House, the procession, headed by its solid blocks of soldiery and the battalions of sailor comrades, moved on with Pershing, now flanked by Secretaries Weeks and Denby, for the long road to the tomb.

Ahead, the white marble of the amphitheater gleamed through the trees. People in thousands were moving about the great circle. Down below the platform placed for the casket, in a stone vault, lay wreaths and garlands. Above the platform gathered men whose names ring through history—Briand, Foch, Beatty, Balfour, Jacques, Diaz and others—in a brilliant array of place and power. They were followed by notables from all countries gathered here for tomorrow's conference, and by some of the older figures in American life too old to walk beside the approaching funeral train.

At the arch where the choir waited the heroic dead, comrades lifted his casket down and, followed by the generals and the admirals, who had walked beside him from the Capitol, he was carried to the place of honor. Ahead moved the white-robed singers, chanting solemnly. Carefully the casket was placed above the banked flowers and the Marine band played sacred melodies until the moment the President and Mrs. Harding stepped to their places beside the casket.

Mr. Harding showed strong emotion as his lips formed the last words of the address. He paused, then with raised hand and head bowed, went on in the measured, rolling periods of the Lord's Prayer. The response that came back to him from the thousands he faced, from the other thousands out over the slopes beyond, arose like a chant. The marble arches hummed with the solemn sound.

Then the foreign officers who stand highest among the soldiers or sailors of their flags came one by one to the bier to place gold and jeweled emblems for the brave above the breast of the sleeper. Already, as the great prayer ended, the President had set the American seal of admiration for the valiant, the nation's love for brave deeds and the courage that defies death, upon the casket. Side by side he laid the Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross.

The casket, with its weight of honors, was lowered into the crypt. A rocking blast of gunfire rang from the woods. The glittering circle of bayonets stiffened to a salute to the dead. Again the guns shouted their message of honor and farewell. Again they boomed out: a loyal comrade was being laid to his last, long rest.

High and clear and true in the echoes of the guns, a bugle lifted the old, old notes of taps, the lullaby for the living soldier, in death his requiem. Long ago some forgotten soldier poet caught its meaning clear and set it down that soldiers everywhere might know its message as they sing to rest:

"Fades the light;
And afar

Goeth day, cometh night,
And a star
Leadeth all, speedeth all,
To their rest."
The guns roared out again in the national salute. He was home, the Unknown, to sleep forever among his own.

Long Holiday Scheduled By Many In Area

Recreation Spots And Pools To Open For Use Tomorrow

Memorial Day will be observed in Cumberland with a parade and services at the Soldier's Monument in Rose Hill Cemetery tomorrow.

The parade to Rose Hill is scheduled to start at 11 a. m. Many persons will be fortunate enough to have a long holiday weekend. The Court House will be closed tomorrow and Saturday and City Hall has been closed Saturdays for some time.

Local banks will also observe the holiday and will not be open Saturday. Some business offices will be closed both Friday and Saturday and there are some industrial workers who will also benefit from the work schedule giving them both days off.

Pools To Be Open

For those who like swimming, picnics and other recreational pursuits, Constitution Park pool, Minke's pool and the Celanese pool will all be open for business. James Kelly will manage the Celanese pool this year. The bathhouse has been painted both inside and out and a volleyball and badminton court has been added to the recreation area. Additional charcoal fire places and tables have also been added. The summer season on Deep Creek Lake in Garrett County and along the South Branch of the Potomac River will also get underway.

In nearby Bedford County the picnic area and swimming beach at Shawnee Park will also be formally opened. This park usually attracts many thousands of visitors on holidays and Sundays. Bedford Springs outdoor pool will also open for the season. Friday. The pool at Chalybeate Park will also open tomorrow. Recreation areas along Deep Creek Lake and at New Germany will also be available for visitors. Swimming pools at Piedmont and Keyser will also be open. Golf courses in the area will also have a larger than usual number of players out during the holiday week end.

A number of churches have scheduled services. District Forester William H. Johnson reported that a number of improvements have been made in his four-county Western Maryland district. The various areas will be open tomorrow.

New sand has been deposited on the beach areas of both Herrington Manor and New Germany in Garrett County. About 75 new picnic tables will be available at Herrington Manor, New Germany and Swallow Falls. That will bring to about 500 the total number of picnic tables in the three Garrett County recreation areas. Pavilions are available at Swallow Falls and New Germany, where visitors may eat their picnic lunches under shelter. The fireplaces at New Germany have been rebuilt.

A new wash house equipped with laundry, shower and toilet facilities has been completed at New Germany but will not be opened for about three weeks, by which time Johnson expects the approach road to be finished. The camping area at Swallow Falls will be open.

A new fish pond at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing is nearly completed and soon will be available. However, construction is just starting on a baseball diamond there. Cabins—16 at Herrington Manor and 10 at New Germany—will not be opened for the season until June 14 and will remain open until September 6. The fortunate already have reserved these cabins by the week for the entire season.

A number of state parks in Washington and Frederick counties within easy driving distance of Cumberland will be open tomorrow. In Washington County they include Fort Frederick State Park at Big Pool, east of Hancock; the Washington Monument State Park on South Mountain near Boonsboro and Gathland State Park, also on South Mountain, which straddles the Washington-Frederick county line. Frederick County establishments include Gambrill's State Park on the Catoctin Mountain about six miles west of Frederick and Cunningham Falls State Park three miles west of Thurmont.

Work is still in progress on Deep Creek Park in Garrett County and it will not be open to the public.

Board Drops New College Building Plan

The State Board of Education today said the Department of Public Improvements has been requested not to award a contract for a proposed dining hall-student union building at Frostburg State College.

Board spokesmen said the request was made with the explanation that revamping of the structure, which would bring its cost under the low bid offered on the building, would destroy the function for which it was planned. The low bid, by the George Construction Company, was $380,000, while $350,000 was allotted for the building.

As a result of the decision, the $350,000 will revert to the general bond fund, the spokesmen pointing out that the Board of Education will appear before the next Legislature and request funds sufficient to construct the proposed building so that it will be in line with the style of architecture at Frostburg State College.

The Board of Education, it was added, has accepted a suggestion of the DPI to redesign a proposed new laboratory school at Frostburg State as one means of reducing its cost.

It was reported that a number of classrooms will be eliminated from the proposed structure, as one means of cost reduction. The low bid on this structure $619,000, was also made by the George firm, while only $570,000 of state funds was appropriated for it.

In view of the action by the board, the construction of the dining hall-student union will be delayed at least a year, but it was stated this is preferable so that the style of architecture will be maintained at Frostburg.

Equipment Ordered By County Board

Purchases Will Be Made From Baltimore Firm, Group Decides

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners today approved the purchase of a patrol grader and a tractor for the County Roads Department from the McLung-Long Company of Baltimore.

The Baltimore firm was low bidder on the tractor, but was next to low on the patrol grader by $79.

Gorman E. Getty, county attorney, and J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor, were directed by the commissioners at last week's meeting to analyze and tabulate the bids.

Salesmen Live Here

On the motion of Commissioner William A. Wilson, the second low bid on the grader was accepted. Wilson pointed out that McLung-Long is a Maryland firm, which pays taxes in this state; its salesmen in this area live in Allegany County and pay taxes here, and the County Roads Department already has two other grades of the same make, with a number of parts being interchangeable.

Wilson also pointed out that the low bidder, the Rish Equipment Company, is a West Virginia concern and its salesmen is a resident of that state.

In his analysis, Getty stated bids were requested for a patrol grader in accordance with certain basic minimum specifications.

Bids were received from five suppliers, and these conformed to the specifications with the exception of the J. W. Patterson Company which did not comply with the weight, horsepower or scarifier requirements.

Other Bidders Named

The other four bids were: Rish, $15,221.20; McLung-Long, $15,300; W. Va. Tractor Company, $15,369; and Beckwith Company, $19,224.

Getty pointed out that there was not any problem for the tractor purchase. Of the bids from five suppliers, only two complied with basic minimum specifications in every detail. These were the bids of McLung-Long with $11,497, and the Beckwith Company with $17,161.

Morgan Brothers did not conform to the weight, and had a bid of $13,000. Rish also did not meet the weight specifications and also bid $14,973.

Autopsy Set In Drowning

An autopsy has been scheduled in the death of Irvin See, 22, formerly of Moorefield, W. Va., who fell into Lake Roland while fishing Monday near Baltimore.

Baltimore County police said the victim apparently drowned while fishing in the water, just north of Baltimore City limits.

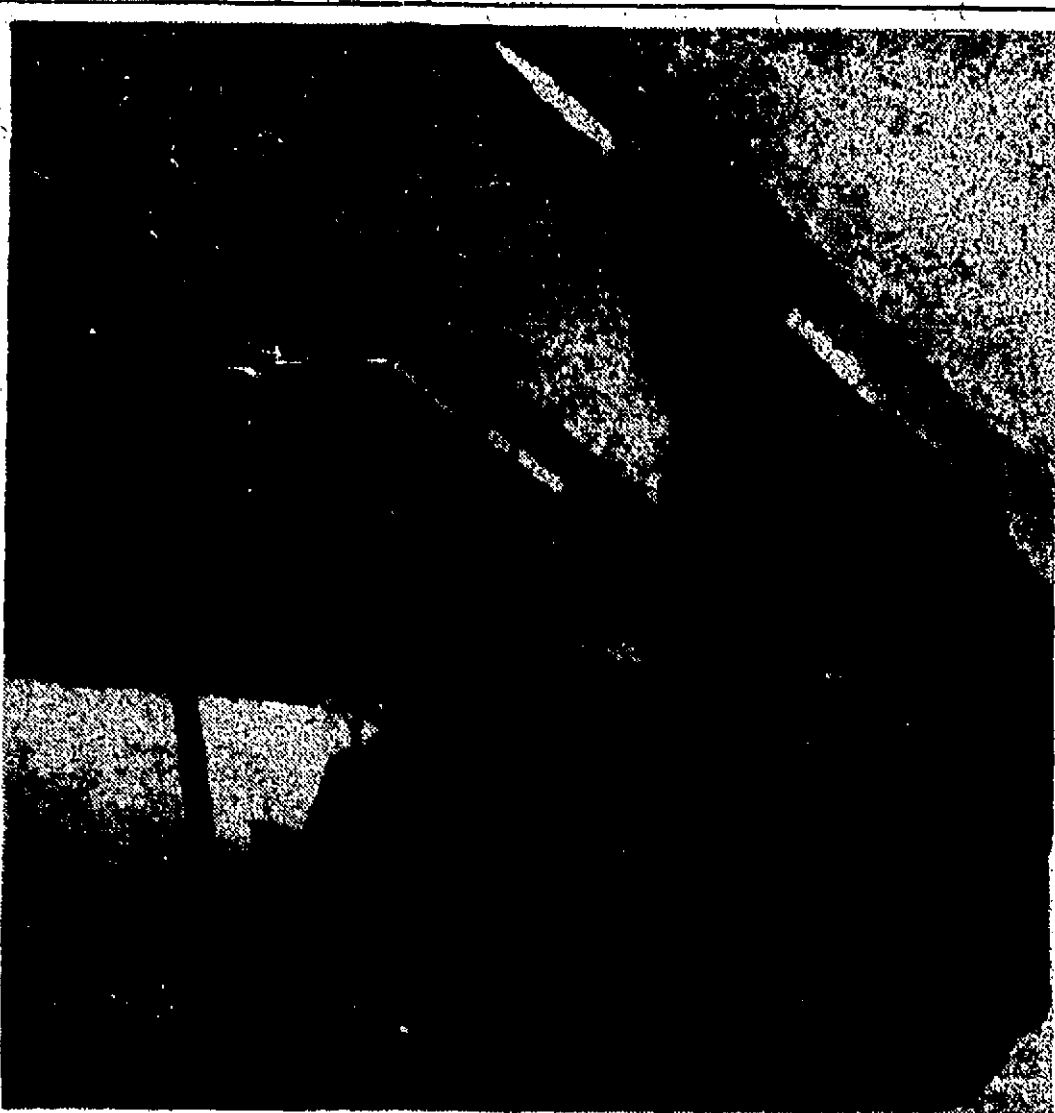

Officers said See apparently suffered an epileptic seizure and fell face forward into the lake. His fishing equipment was found scattered on the bank.

He was born near Moorefield, and was a son of Carrie C. (See) See and Frank See. He is also survived by four sisters and a brother.

The body is at the Thrush Funeral Home, Moorefield, where services were conducted today by Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of Moorefield Methodist Church. Burial was in Olivet Cemetery there.

Dick Seeking Expense Rule For Meetings

Contents County Should Bear Cost For State Gatherings

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick today stated he has requested an opinion from the Attorney General of Maryland on the authority of the Allegany County Commissioners to pay for expenses of trial magistrates attending state meetings.

This morning Magistrate Dick received a letter from James Stevenson, clerk of the county commissioners, informing him that in the future the county will not pay for trips to committee meetings of the State Trial Magistrate Association.

Magistrate Dick, who is president of the state association, said today he feels sure the commissioners did not consult the county attorney (Gorman Getty) about the matter, and if they had Getty would have given them an adverse opinion on the action taken by two of the three commissioners.

Points To Law

Magistrate Dick said the matter arose a few years ago when the commissioners said they had no authority to pay the expenses. The matter was taken before the local delegation of Legislative Council and the following bill was passed:

"The County Commissioners of Allegany County shall pay the annual membership dues in the State Trial Magistrate's Association for each trial magistrate who becomes a member thereof, together with all reasonable and necessary expenses incurred while attending any meeting of said association."

Following this ruling, Dick said, the trial magistrates were instructed to submit expense accounts to the commissioners, and that no previous account of his had been questioned.

The magistrates attend four regular meetings a year, but this year as state president Dick had to attend an extra meeting. This meeting, Dick said, was to meet with other state officers and establish committee assignments and clarify by-laws, and consult with the federal government concerning tax on this association's dinner-dance tickets.

The local magistrate today also stated that in the past all expenses for himself, former magistrate Donald W. Mason and the late Alvin C. Thompson, were paid when they held state offices.

Interested In Others

Magistrate Dick stated "This is the second time that I have been reprimanded" for failing to support certain candidates in the Republican primary election.

"The financial question does not mean that much to me since I have only one more meeting to attend, but hope that others who will be elected to state office will not be forced to pay their own expenses," said Dick.

At a meeting of the county commissioners Tuesday, Commissioner William A. Wilson said he checked into the expenses listed for committee trips by Dick and found that approximately $118 had been paid by the county so far this year.

He said he had no objection to payment of the expenses of trial magistrates when they attend the meetings of the state associations, but felt that committee meetings were obligations of the individual magistrates and not the county.

Surplus Food Pact Effectuated

The agreement providing for surplus government food for distribution in this county was sent today by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to the State Department of Budget and Procurement.

The county agreed to accept carload lots of the foodstuffs. The board stipulated that those receiving the commodities must be certified by either the Red Cross, Salvation Army or the Associated Charities.

The County Welfare Board's only activity will be limited to checking the certifications of the three agencies for certification. The commissioners said the program is being set up in this county and the department will be advised when the county is ready to participate in the program.

Money Reported Taken From Safe

City Police this morning received a complaint of a "safecracking" job last night in downtown Cumberland.

Police said Russell Hare reported a breaking and entering at his neon sign shop, 130 North Mechanic Street.

Police said a safe in the building was opened and an undetermined amount of money taken. Police noted that several thousand dollars worth of diamond rings which were kept in the safe were not touched.

Police said the intruder entered the building by knocking out a window in the rear of the building. The case was turned over to the Detective Bureau.

Convention Plan Adopted By Lutherans

The Maryland Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church will meet again next year at a local congregation, according to action taken this morning prior to the closing of the 139th annual convention at St. John's Church.

Ministers and delegates voiced strong approval of the plan, pointing out that this year's convention, the first in 17 years to be held away from Gettysburg Seminary, brought them much closer to the problems of its members.

The 1959 Synod convention will be held May 25-27 at Luther Place Memorial Church, Washington.

In other action before the conclusion of the meeting, approval was given a recommendation that the Synod's camp site committee be empowered to make it possible for individuals to give memorial gifts for the development of the proposed camps, in addition to the gifts which will be made by the member congregations.

At last night's session, three clergymen were presented 50-year certificates for their service in the Lutheran ministry. They are Rev. Fritz O. Evers of Baltimore; Dr. J. E. Harms of Hagerstown, and Rev. Charles H. Shull of Frederick.

The convention closed shortly before noon today.

The delegates voted to finance development of the camp near Doubts, Md., through regular means. They set an annual budget for calendar 1959 of $636,784 compared with last year's budget of $630,531.

The new budget represents $12.39 for each member of the synod as against $16.60 last year. The higher budget last year was caused by the added expenses of a 40th anniversary observance.

The synod includes all of Maryland except Garrett County, plus the District of Columbia and the Waynesboro, Pa., Lovettsville, Va., and Martinsburg, W. Va., areas.

Jury Pays Visit To Land Site

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury today began hearing evidence in the State Roads Commission condemnation case involving land needed for the Industrial Boulevard of the Cumberland Thruway.

The proceedings were filed against James and Lena DeMartini for property located on Montreal Avenue between Ontario and South streets.

The SRC deposited a check of $320 with the clerk of Circuit Court in February when the case was instituted. That represented the amount the state felt the property was worth.

The jury went to the site of the property in South End just after the case was started.

William L. Wilson is representing the SRC and James A. Avirett, the defendant.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris is presiding.

Muscular Dystrophy Group Will Elect

The annual meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA, according to Albert A. Doub, president.

Doub said the business will include election of officers. All persons interested in the work of the organization may attend.

Preston County Stills Seized By U. S. Tax Agents

UNIONTOWN — An old-fashioned "moonshine" raid was staged yesterday in nearby Preston County, W. Va., as alcohol tax agents assigned to the Treasury Department arrested four men and confiscated three stills and various illegal equipment.

Arrested and held for action of the U. S. District Court are Thomas Wooten, 52; his son, Billy Wooten, 28; William Casteel, 28, and Robert Price, 36, all of the Uniontown area.

Confiscated were 31½ gallons of whisky, some of which was newly made; 400 gallons of mash three automobiles and three stills. The largest still had an 80-gallon capacity; another, 50-gallon capacity, and the smallest, 14-gallon capacity.

The raid was staged near the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line on a farm north of Brandonville in Preston County. Agents said they had the place under surveillance over a long period of time and several days ago saw the large still moved from the farm house to the barn. The barn also housed the mash as well as the largest still, and the two other stills were found in the farm house.

The four arrested men were arraigned in Fairmont before United States Commissioner P. L. Eddy and were held for action of the United States District Court. Unable to furnish bond, they were lodged in the Fairmont jail.

There were five treasury agents in the raid, assisted by State Police officers from Kingwood, W. Va. Two of the agents are from Pittsburgh, two from Clarksburg, W. Va., and the other had charge of this section of West Virginia with headquarters in Romney.

Agents said one of the Pittsburgh officers developed information that illegal whisky being sold in that city was coming from the Preston County area. He notified the Romney agent, who was successful in locating the operation. The place was put under continuous observation, and when enough information was developed a federal search warrant was obtained and the raid was staged.

Agents said this is the first still and the largest operation seized in this section of West Virginia or Maryland for several years. One of the agents involved in the case was formerly assigned to Cumberland and staged many raids in this section during prohibition.

TO SPEAK — Evangelist H. B. Kelchner will speak Sunday at 11 a. m. and 3 and 7:30 p. m. in Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian. His subject is "Living Your Life Now in the Light of Eternity." A former pastor, he left the Midlothian area nine years ago. Rev. James L. Tate is pastor of the host church.

Four Die In W. Virginia Mine Mishap

MADISON, W. Va. (AP) — Slate which fell in a large Boone County coal mine yesterday killed four men. Two others managed to escape death by diving under mining equipment, but one of them was injured.

Dead in the mishap at the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates' Wharton No. 2 mine were:

William Bain, about 34, a section foreman of Bim; James Stone, about 36, and Harry Hartman, about 28, both of Unecda, and Cecil Brown, about 47, of Barrett.

Holley Drennen, about 35, of Barrett was hospitalized at Charleston with injuries received when the heavy slate collapsed a bolting machine under which he had taken shelter.

Pat Jarrell of Barrett, the sixth man in the vicinity of the fall, escaped injury by leaping beneath another piece of equipment, although it took rescue workers almost two hours to tunnel beneath the fall and remove him.

Drennen was reported in good condition early today, but the nature of his injuries had not been disclosed. He was conscious during much of an effort of more than five hours to free him.

Rescue crews had been able to remove only the body of Hartman by late last night.

Mine Supt. D. B. Shupe said the dead and injured were part of a crew of 13 working about two miles from the drift mouth, making new cuts to open mine rooms. The slate that fell was about 100 feet long and 36 inches thick.

It was the first fatality at the mine since October, 1956. More than 1.4 million tons of coal had been removed without a worker being killed.

George Walls, 30, of Jarrell's Branch, said the slate fell without warning. He told a newsman:

"I just looked up and saw it fall. It hit about 20 feet from me. I managed to talk to Drennen, but couldn't do anything by myself to get him out. He was hurt and was having trouble breathing. 'If they (the six men) had been standing 15 or 20 feet from where they were, they wouldn't have been hurt.'"

The mine normally employs about 450 men. About 200 were in the mine when the accident occurred.

Hott Issues Statement In Assault Case

KEYSER — Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Holt yesterday denied he had asked Judge Ernest A. See to be relieved of all connection with the prosecution of six area persons indicted for dragging a man along a street in Piedmont with an automobile.

Holt said that on April 16, after the six had been originally indicted, he asked Judge See if the court wanted to appoint a special prosecutor in the case, and offered to assist in the case in any way. He said the order entered in the records of that date naming Attorney Vernon E. Rankin as special prosecutor did not specifically relieve him of any connection with the case.

The statement was the outgrowth of Judge See ordering Holt out of the grand jury room at Monday's special session when the six were re-indicted for felonious assault.

In an order entered in Mineral County Circuit Court Tuesday, Judge See said there was "some uncertainty" in the original order of April 16. The order states that Holt was ordered out of the grand jury room on Monday, to which Holt "objected and excepted."

W. Va. Company Submits Report

NEW YORK—Partly as a result of contributions to sales from the Virginia Folding Box Company, a new subsidiary, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, was able to generate dollar sales during the first half of this fiscal year in excess of the same period last year, David L. Luke, president, reported yesterday.

For the first six months of this year, ended April 30, sales totaled $97,959,000, as compared with $96,899,000 for the same period last year.

Although earnings of 52 cents per share during the second quarter of the fiscal year showed the expected seasonal improvement over 35 cents earned during the first quarter, the results for the full six months were 24 per cent below earnings for the first six months of the previous fiscal year, Luke said.

First half earnings amounted to $4,683,000, or 87 cents per share as compared with $6,133,000, or $1.18 per share for the corresponding period in 1957.

In action taken at a regular meeting Monday afternoon, the company's board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents on common stock, payable July 1. The July dividend is payable to stockholders of record June 9.

'Old Man' Grissom Helping In Giants' Surge

Marv Rates Best Relief Ace, Boasts 4-1 Record

By United Press International
Those San Francisco rookies rate all the praise they're getting but don't forget old man Marv Grissom's part in the Giants' spectacular rise.

The experts were saying three years ago that 40-year-old Grissom might be over the hill, but he's sporting a 1.80 earned-run average and a 4-1 record today that stamps him as the National League's top relief ace. Marv's four victories equal his entire 1957 total.

Resembles Sheriff
The 6-foot, 3-inch, 205-pound right-hander, who looks like a sheriff on one of those adult westerns, came through again last night when the Giants restored their lead to two games with a 7-6 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies. The win enabled the Giants to pick up a full game on the Milwaukee Braves, who lost a 12-inning, 7-4 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie Kirkland, who has seven years old when Grissom started out in Class D ball back in 1941, delivered the game-winning blow — a two-run ninth-inning homer off Philadelphia relief star Dick Farrell. Farrell carried a 5-4 lead into the ninth but the Giants led the score on Hank Sauer's single, Orlando Cepeda's double and Daryl Spencer's sacrifice fly before Kirkland connected with his game-winning shot.

It was the 10th win in 15 games on this road trip for the Giants, who always did make it a point to travel first class.

Cards Edge Braves
Don Blasingame tied the St. Louis-Milwaukee game with a ninth-inning triple and the Cardinals finally won out in the 12th when a walk, two singles, a hit batsman, a sacrifice fly and Joe Adcock's error produced three runs. The game was marred by five errors and 19 walks.

The Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-1, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 6-4, in other NL games.

In the American League, the Kansas City A's topped the New York Yankees, 4-3, the Chicago White Sox crushed the Washington Senators, 13-3, the Detroit Tigers scored a 4-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians whipped the Baltimore Orioles, 5-2.

Sandy Koufax, 22-year-old southpaw fireballer, pitched a six-hitter for the Dodgers who dealt seven-game winner Bob Friend his third loss. Junior Gilliam had three hits and Duke Snider knocked in two runs to lead the Dodgers' 12-hit attack.

Ernie Banks hit his 10th and 11th homers and Dick Drott pitched a six-hitter as the Cubs snapped a three-game losing streak. Drott struck out seven in scoring his first complete-game victory of the year.

Yank "Losing Streak" Extended
The Athletics extended the Yankees' "losing streak" to two games when Duke Maas limited the American League champions to one hit over the last five frames. Rookie first-baseman Marv Throneberry's error helped the Athletics tally twice in the sixth inning and hand Tom Sturdivant, making his first start since April 22, his second loss. It was the fourth consecutive win for the Athletics.

Tito Francona, who had knocked in only four runs all season, led a 12-hit White Sox attack with a homer, triple and double that drove in five runs. Jim Wilson pitched a three-hitter for his fifth win while Chuck Slobbs, who failed to retire a batter in the first inning, lost his fourth game. The White Sox scored five runs in both the first and second innings.

Pinch-hitter Gail Harris' two-run, ninth-inning homer broke up a tight game between Detroit and Boston and enabled Frank Lary to win his fifth decision. Billy Martin's two-run single with the bases filled and two out in the fifth tied the score at 2-2.

Cal McLish turned in a six-hitter for Cleveland to beat Jack Harshman, who suffered his third loss after opening the season with five straight victories. Rocky Colavito and Minnie Miñoso homered for the Indians as the Orioles dropped their seventh straight game.

Sports Shoppe Meets 'Hoppers' Tomorrow
The Sports Shoppe of the City Softball League will attempt to get the season underway tomorrow by meeting the Bunny Hoppers AC of Morgantown, W. Va., in a twin bill at East Side Field. The first game is to begin at 2 p.m.

The games were originally slated for last Sunday but postponed because of wet grounds. Rich Smith and Joe Biggs are to hurl for the locals.

Panico Victor
Vince Panico won over C. F. Staten, 5 and 3, in a third flight match of the men's spring handicap tournament at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday. The association will stage a flag tournament tomorrow.

and John Reed. In the back row are Del Mongold and Ralph Cover. The Old Exports and Cumberland Music Shop are also slated to roll at Syracuse the same days. The Old Germans bowled in the ABC earlier in the month. All four teams are members of the Allegany County Tennis League. The league annually sends teams to the tournament.

Corriganville, Stringers In County Clash

Two of the hottest teams in the County Softball League tangle for the second time this season as Stringtown and the latter's diamond.

The Old Exports, who have won their last five in a row, have lost only once in six attempts. That defeat was an 8-1 setback by Stringtown in the second game of the year and is also the only loss dished out to the Corgs' Art Raygor.

Raygor has accounted for all of the Old Exports' decisions and is the winningest hurler in the area. He has gone the distance in all seven starts, the latest triumph being a two-hit 14-0 shut-out over Hyndman Planers.

Ray Troutman, who has won four without a loss and the victor in the trimming of Corriganville, will probably be on the hill for the Stringers this evening. Stringtown has won its last two and is tied with Maple Inn Old Germans for second place, a full game off the pace of Corriganville, with a 5-2 log.

The Old Germans will be gunning for their second in a row over Kennell's Mill when they collide today on the latter's field. Maple Inn took the opener, 5-4, behind Jerry O'Baker. The Innmen have won two of seven, placing them in a knot with Hyndman for fourth place.

Rounding out today's card, which has been moved up from tomorrow because of Memorial Day, will be Hyndman at Home-wood Tavern with the Planers, also going for their second over the Taverners. Hyndman outslug-ged Home-wood, 13-11, in their initial contest.

All of today's games are to get underway at 6:15.

Bi-State Ponies Play Tomorrow

Three games will be offered as a Memorial Day attraction for fans of the Bi-State Pony Baseball League tomorrow with all six of the teams being in action. Games are to start at 6 o'clock.

Frostburg, with Dave Broad-water hurling a no-hitter in the opener against Mt. Savage for a 7-0 victory, guns for its second in a row when the Mountain City team is host to last year's pennant and playoff champions, Ellerslie.

Ellerslie was beaten in the lid-lifter Monday evening by LaVale. Cresaptown and LaVale will also be out for their second straight when Cresaptown is host to Mt. Savage and LaVale invades Lonaconing. Cresaptown thumped Lonaconing, 12-2, in its lid-lifter.

Flag raising exercises in charge of Lt. Francis Allen and members of the National Guard will pre-cede the game when Frostburg launches its home schedule with Ellerslie.

Pre-game ceremonies will get under way at 5:30 p.m. City Councilman William Preston will pitch the first ball and City Councilman William Sluss will be on the receiving end.

Pen-Mar Clubs Busy During Weekend

Barrelville's Old Exports, who have won the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs the past two years and were also pennant victors in 1956, have a chance of padding their lead in the race over the Memorial Holiday weekend.

The eight teams in the circuit will all play three games in the next three afternoons, the Old Exports facing Zihlman on the Zippers' diamond tomorrow and

Elks, VFW Clash Today
Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ritter's AC both preserved their winning streaks, at least temporarily, yesterday when wet grounds forced postponement of their clash at Celanese Field.

The front-running Vets, with a 3-0 record, will be after their fourth in a row this evening when playing third-place Elks at Naval Reserve Field. Elks have won three and dropped two.

Ritter's, one of the surprise clubs of the circuit, will be idle today but could move into a tie for first place if Elks upset the Vets.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass will meet Celanese on the Silkers' field and Knights of Columbus and Moose at East Side Field in today's other contests. All games are to start at 6 o'clock.

Moose and the Caseys are knotted for fourth place with their 2-2 marks and the winner can take over third if Elks become the fourth victim of the Vets. Pittsburgh Plate has a 1-3 reading and Celanese is winless in four tries.

Frostburg Kids Open Tomorrow
Frostburg Little League Inc. will open the 1958 season tomorrow when the Lions meet Orioles, last year's pennant winners, at the Little League Park at 6 p.m.

Preceding the game, a parade of all Little Leaguers led by Fulton Myers Post and a band will meet at Frostburg parking lot, West Mechanic Street, at 5 o'clock, to march to the field on Park Avenue.

Practice Schedule
Cardinals of Dapper Dan Little League Saturday, 10 a. m., Rolling Mill Field.

German Students Give Underwood Set Of Books

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Underwood received a set of 50 books in a handsome bookcase today as an expression of appreciation from German exchanges, such as students and teachers.

What Keeps a Husband Faithful?

Experts are finding that a man's fidelity in marriage is intimately related to his mature capacity to love. Most marriage counselors agree that the reasons men give for being unfaithful are self-deceptive and usually conceal deeper and less pleasant urges. In June Reader's Digest, read "What Keeps a Husband Faithful?"

who have been guests in this country. Similar presentations were being made today to the governors of all 48 states on behalf of the "Thanks America" Fund of German Exchanges. An accompanying letter from Werner G. Middelmann, chairman of the fund, said: "May this small token be accepted as a symbol of gratitude of our countrymen and women who have experienced the American people's generosity and friendship."

The presentation to Underwood was made by Margaret Bitter, German consul in Cleveland. The books consisted of a representative selection of literature, art, biographies, and reference works by German authors.

There are more than 35 names for the small mouth bass.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You toot the horn for A. A. like you are on their payroll. Let me tell you my experience. My husband was a drunk when I married him but I thought I was going to reform him. I learned there is no such thing as a reformed drunk. Finally I took my baby in one hand and my suitcase in the other and closed the door behind me and never looked back. I support myself, but at least I eat regularly. Drunks want more drink, no suggestions. OUGHT TO KNOW

DEAR OUGHT: A. A. has no payroll and "I toot their horn" because I get thousands of letters from reformed alcoholics who owe their lives to A. A. You should have joined Al-Anon—the club for the families of alcoholics. They teach you how to live with the alcoholic and help him on the road back. Believe me, it's well-traveled.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has four children by his first wife and three by me. He is a good man and was fully divorced before I met him. I raised his children and they are as dear to me as our own. The problem is that I get along fine with his wife. She comes here and we have meals together and visit like old friends. My neighbors say I am completely insane for allowing her in my home. They said if I were normal I would call her names and pitch her out of my front door. Are they crazy or am I? FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: You are certainly normal in my book. There should be more people like you and less like your neighbors.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, May 29, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Mixed influences. Exercise care in all things. To insure a well-ordered, fruitful day, this does not mean that you should move with anxiety—just with good judgment.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A good day for conferences, seeing those in positions of authority, progressing in worthwhile enterprises. But do use caution in signing contracts, making promises, etc.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Mercury's position suggests that you make no rash promises also that you examine carefully any agreements or papers you have to sign. The former, more particularly you are the better the results.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—This day's planetary aspects are not particularly stimulating, if you keep your head cool and a smile in your heart, nothing can defeat you. You can beat others, too.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Your Sun, in good aspect, indicates a creative day. If you stick to your tasks and don't neglect essentials for frivolous matters. Watch out for errors.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—If you are calm both inwardly and outwardly, and go cheerfully about your program, you will accomplish what you expect. Be realistic, ambitious—but not over-anxious.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Mildly good aspects most of the day. Avoid being drawn into new ventures unless thoroughly analyzed. Study others' actions; take advantage of their mistakes.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Vitality of purpose will govern the gains you make under the influence prevailing now. Some reflective aspects may tend to upset, but don't let them since they are only temporary.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Ask the opinions of others if you wish, but don't base your actions solely on them. Dig for facts yourself and die thoroughly taking all important angles into consideration. Where the opposition shows determination, take care.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—A much better day than you may give it credit for being, and be someone you are after matters, wind up unfinished tasks and make new plans (carefully), the sooner you will advance.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Don't rest on past laurels. There's too much to do and YOU can benefit by sincere and intelligent effort. Why not try for some new attainment, new goal? You can win fresh pleasures.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—A splendid day in which to capitalize on your gifts—especially your intuition, imagination and idealism. Avoid all questionable enterprises. Don't let yourself be "taken in".

"YOU BORN TODAY have great versatility and will work hard for success. But sometimes you become dissatisfied and become a project loses some of its original glitter and becomes "routine." Often that "routine" is the real thing in life. Control your emotions and carefully direct that wonderful energy you possess. Develop your variety of gifts and there will be no happier person. Besides, Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia."

Kaiser Firm Not Fazed By Market Future

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (AP)—Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. officials welcoming a press delegation to their new 200 million-dollar plant here professed to be unworried by the current over-capacity in the aluminum industry.

They explained yesterday that the market now is absorbing about as much metal as last year. The figures look bad because, they added, a much less percentage of the industry's rated capacity is producing the nation's needs.

Newsman and others were brought here as the fully integrated production of aluminum, from white, powdery ore to glistening foil, began in the big Ohio Valley plant.

This is the Oakland, Calif., company's first bid for the lucrative eastern aluminum market. Yesterday's start of integrated production capped four years of work.

Kaiser called the plant here the biggest integrated steel facility in the business, and officials talked glowingly of a need for more capacity by 1962 in the nation's aluminum industry.

The work force at Ravenswood, they insisted, show growth by 1960 from the current 1,800 to 4,000 workers. Two of four pollines here are now in production, with an annual capacity of 72,500 tons of primary aluminum.

The Kaiser plant has been called the biggest single industrial development in West Virginia history. Kaiser now says it is within a 500-mile radius of 70 per cent of the nation's aluminum consumption.

Mate Falls To Show Up, Wife Freed

SALISBURY (AP)—A woman accused of throwing lye in her husband's face is free today after her spouse failed to show up at her trial.

Mrs. Beatrice Ridley, 26-year-old Negro, was freed after State's Atty. Hamilton P. Fox told Circuit Judge Rex A. Taylor he was unsuccessful in trying to get Julius Van Ridley to testify against his wife.

The woman, born in North Carolina, was charged with mayhem and assault on her husband last September. He was reported to have been sleeping at the time. Judge Taylor said he understood the husband is now blind.

The couple lived as tenants on the farm of County Commissioner Paul 'Widdowson near Mardela Springs.

Clinics Planned At Local School

The Allegany County Health Department will sponsor two child hygiene clinics each month at Pennsylvania Avenue School, beginning June 10.

The additional clinic is planned because of increased attendance at the single clinic which has been held.

Pennsylvania Avenue School will be used as the dividing line, and people east of the school should attend clinics on the second Tuesday, and those west of the school on the third Tuesday.

Dr. Abdul Hashim, pediatrician, will be clinician for the session held on second Tuesdays at 9:30 a. m. and Dr. Ralph A. Reiter, pediatrician, will be in charge of the other clinic held on third Tuesdays at 9:30 a. m.

"Friend Of Taxpayers" Blasts Illegal Voters

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hyman Pressman, estimating that up to 50,000 Baltimoreans are illegally registered as voters, called upon city election officials today to strike them from the registration lists.

Pressman used the figure in referring to the number of voters who have not cast ballots in five years. He said State law requires that they be declared ineligible.

"This is the deadwood which gives unscrupulous politicians an easy opportunity for wholesale shenanigans," said Pressman, an attorney whose hobby is filing taxpayer's suits to make certain that politicians obey the law.

In a letter addressed to the board of election supervisors, he recalled his recent suit on behalf of a candidate in the May 20 Democratic primary for House of Delegates. The candidate contended that the supervisors had failed to strike from the voters' lists many persons who were ineligible because they had moved from the precincts in which they were registered.

The supervisors replied that Baltimore City was exempt from the section of the law applying to such cases, but the Court of Appeals later upheld the candidate.

Pressman, saying he also had called the five-year deadline to the attention of the supervisors and was ignored, noted that the Court of Appeals decision issued May 23 had specifically mentioned this as being applicable to the city, as well as to the 23 counties.

"In view of the fact that the Court of Appeals is apparently in agreement with my contention and in disagreement with yours, I hereby demand that you comply with the law and proceed forthwith to erase the names of all registrants who have not voted at least once at a primary, general or special election within the five preceding calendar years," he said.

"In checking the records of 362 voters in the 4th Precinct of the 11th Ward, I found that 55, amounting to 15 per cent, were disqualified under the aforesaid statute. If this percentage is applied to the entire city, it means that approximately 50,000 ineligible voters are on your registration lists."

"Needless to say," said Pressman, who has filed more than two dozen suits against public officials in 10 years, "your failure to comply with the law will compel me to file suit to require you to do so."

Phone Firm Sets Up Big Work Project

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. plans to spend $1,764,000 to rebuild cables, poles and outside wires damaged during the snow and sleet storm of March 19-20.

All told, the company will spend $2,253,000 in its latest expansion program.

W. Griffin Morrell, vice president, said $145,000 will be used for a dial expansion project at Annapolis as part of a $528,000 dial expansion program in Southern Maryland.

Another $145,000 will go for a building addition at Annapolis.

Other expenditures will go for expansion of equipment in the Washington suburbs, and $49,000 will be used for a building addition and dial expansion at Walkersville, Frederick County.

Court House To Be Closed

The Allegany County Court House will be closed for the long Memorial Day weekend from 4 p. m. today until 8:30 a. m. Monday.

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, whose office also will remain closed all three days, issued a reminder yesterday that business licenses applications must be received during the month of May or the operator faces a 10 per cent penalty for the delay.

Mailed applications postmarked on or before midnight Saturday, May 31, will be accepted by the court clerk without penalty. These licenses include traders' licenses, moving picture theatre, open air motion picture theatres, garages, laundries, cleaning, dyeing and pressing establishments. These licenses expire each April 30 but a 30-day grace period is allowed.
